

Sisters by Satora

My sisters, as we walk toward the morning sun (life),

Our hearts beat with anticipation wondering what the world has in store for us.

As we follow our hopes and dreams,

We prepare ourselves for the future, not knowing what the next turn or obstacle will be.

But no matter what they are, my sisters,

As long as we do our best, hold our heads high, and walk with pride,

We will make it through everything that life has in store for us.